

Google Chrome Music Lab Rhythm Activity: Dictation

Directions:

After listening to rhythm example, write the rhythms you hear.

1.

2.

3.

4.

Google Chrome Music Lab Rhythm Activity: Dictation

Teacher key for how to input rhythmic examples into website.
Note: Teacher can choose different sounds through website if preferred

1.

The screenshot shows the Google Chrome Music Lab interface. At the top, two blue alien characters are playing drums. The character on the left is playing a blue drum with yellow sticks, and the character on the right is playing an orange drum with a wooden stick. Below the characters is a play button and a rhythmic notation staff. The staff consists of eight vertical lines, each with a red dot at the bottom and a grey dot at the top. The red dots are positioned at the first, third, fifth, sixth, and seventh lines from the left.

2.

The rhythmic notation staff for example 2 consists of eight vertical lines. Red dots are placed at the bottom of the first, second, third, fifth, sixth, and seventh lines. Grey dots are placed at the top of each line.

3.

The rhythmic notation staff for example 3 consists of eight vertical lines. Red dots are placed at the bottom of the first, fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth lines. Grey dots are placed at the top of each line.

4.

The rhythmic notation staff for example 4 consists of eight vertical lines. Red dots are placed at the bottom of the first, second, fifth, and sixth lines. Grey dots are placed at the top of each line.